

ONTARIO HOOKING CRAFT GUILD

COME JOIN US

WHAT WE DO

- Each year the Ontario Hooking Craft Guild (OHCG) holds its Annual Meeting in a different part of the province and features a large display of members' work. This display is open to the public.
- The Guild promotes local workshops, in person and virtually, and area branches are encouraged to hold local displays.

HOW THE GUILD OPERATES

- There are many regional branches throughout the province, and most members are affiliated with a group. It is not mandatory, however. Members can be individual, independent of a branch.
- Elected representatives from each area serve on the provincial board, which meets four times a year. Branches choose their own officers and plan their own programmes, workshops and displays.

MEMBERSHIP IN THE GUILD

- Membership in the Guild provides the opportunity to belong to any of the 60 plus branches across the province. All members receive four newsletters per year.
- OHCG members are provided with the opportunity to attend guild-sponsored workshops and the Annual Guild School. They can also exhibit their hooked work at the Annual Display, held in conjunction with the Annual General Meeting.
